

*Weather Update
Updated as 6:30am
Saturday, September 23, 2006*

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Another sunny and warm day on tap for us as highs will reach once again into the middle 80s by late this afternoon. Winds today will be much more manageable than they were yesterday, generally light to say 10mph this morning, then decreasing to almost light to calm by the afternoon. More of the same expected tomorrow with sunny skies back in the forecast, highs in the lower to middle 80s and light winds. By the way, on a side note here. Happy Fall which began at 9:03pm last night. So long to summer.

TIME	WEATHER	TEMP	RH	WIND
8 AM	Mostly sunny.	63°	28%	NE light
11 AM	Mostly sunny.	75°	19%	NNE 10
2 PM	Mostly sunny.	83°	15%	NE 5-10
5 PM	Mostly sunny.	84°	15%	Light & variable
TONIGHT	Clear skies with winds picking up once again late.	59°	34%	light
TOMORROW	Mostly sunny, warm and breezy in the morning hours.	84°	16%	Light and variable

Interviews or Questions: Please contact Meteorologist Andy Pearman via LPGA Media coordinator Dana Gross-Rhode or by phone at (309) 648-5742.