Tessica Korda

Birthdate: February 27, 1993 Hometown: Bradenton, Fla. Resides: Bradenton, Fla.

Rookie Year: 2011

LPGA Career Victories: 1 (2012 ISPS Handa Women's Australian Open)

Career Earnings: $391,595

2012 in a Nutshell

- 20 events, 16 cuts made, $339,320 (41)
- 2 top-10 finishes
- Became a Rolex First-Time Winner at the season-opening ISPS Handa Women's Australian Open by winning a sixway sudden-death playoff on the second hole

Career Highlights

- Became the fourth youngest winner of a 72-hole LPGA Tour event with her victory in Australia in 2012
- Turned professional in December 2010 and finished runner-up at the LPGA Final Qualifying Tournament where she earned Priority Category 11 status for the 2011 LPGA season
- Member of the 2010 U.S. Curtis Cup team and the 2009 USA Junior Solheim Cup team
- Won the 2010 South Atlantic Amateur Championship (SALLY)
- Finished runner-up at the 2010 U.S. Women's Amateur Championship
- Made the cut at the 2008 and 2009 U.S. Women's Open Championship as an amateur
- Although she grew up in the U.S., Korda spent her summers in the Czech Republic and played for the Czech Republic National Team until she was 15

@JessicaKorda

www.jessicakorda.com

Get to know Jessica...

- Tennis, anyone? Jessica's parents, Petr Korda and Regina Raichrtová, were both international tennis stars. Petr won one Grand Slam singles title: the 1998 Australian Open
- If Jessica weren't a professional golfer, she would have liked to continue her sports career in gymnastics, which she competed in as a child
- Credited Taylor Swift's song "Enchanted" for keeping her calm during the playoff in Australia and the pop singer later sent Jessica flowers for her 19th birthday

